 We are proud to offer our Engineer Technical Training Free of Charge however, when a booking is made, we will require a Purchase Order for £350 which covers us for any "No Shows" If you attend the training course on the day requested on your booking, we will not invoice the Purchase Order.

No liability can be accepted by the company for loss or damage of items including vehicles whilst in or on-site at our premises. Please observe the restrictions of any walkways around our sites and be familiar with our fire procedures. Training is conducted in a "communicate and feedback" format and as such can be shorter or longer than stated based on the level of existing knowledge and/or learning procedures. Any training or advice given by the trainer is their opinion and in no way forms any part of the company's opinion or views. Any feedback, positive or negative, is always greatly received at orders@recordukdirect.co.uk. Please use the attendance register on-site in accordance with our fire procedure. In no event shall training organisers be liable for death, injury, illness or any loss, cost or expenses suffered by any person. Recording of training is NOT permitted. A copy of our health and safety information can be viewed onsite.
